North Prairie pioneer passes away of old age

The funeral of Mrs. Kari Gulbrandson Thingelstad, who died on March 10, at the old homestead on North Prairie, was held Friday. In the death of Mrs. Thingelstad one of the oldest pioneers of that vicinity passed to the great beyond. Mrs. Thingelstad was born in Norway April 12, 1829, and came to America when 25 years old, settling in Missouri. On Christmas day 1854 she was married to John Gulbrandson Thingelstad, and in the spring of 1856 they came to Minnesota, where they took up a homestead, now the J. E. Gibley farm, just across the Fillmore County line in Winona County. They lived there until 1893 when they went to Lanesboro to make their home. In 1903 Mr. Thingelstad died in that village, since which time Mrs. Thingelstad has lived with her two sons, G. G. and J. E. Gibley, prosperous and highly respected farmers of North Prairie. Besides her two sons, she is survived by five grandchildren.

Mrs. Thingelstad lived to see North Prairie change from a wild and sparsely settled to one of the most prosperous neighborhoods of Southern Minnesota.
