COMMUNICATIONS PAY 568 $10,000

PRESIDENT OF A. T. AND T. GIVEN LARGEST SALARY, $206,250.

Washington, Jan. 9 (UP)—The federal communications commission has reported that 568 persons in the telephone and telegraph industry received $10,000 or more annually in 1938. The largest salary, $206,250, was paid to the president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

No names were listed in the PCC's 45-page report which said that the total number receiving more than $10,000 in 1938 was the same as in 1937. The telephone industry increased its number of $10,000 or more per year men from 510 to 520, but the telegraph industry's number dropped from 53 to 48.

The report showed that 222 telephone workers received from $10,000 to $12,500 and six received $62,500 or more. In the telegraph industry 13 officials received from $10,000 to $12,500 and one, the president of Western Union, received above $62,500. His salary was $85,000.

The report listed 123 A. T. and T. officials who received more than $10,000, headed by the president with $206,250, a vice-president and director at $100,000, the vice-president and general counsel and the vice-president and chief engineer at $75,000 each; and two other vice-presidents at $66,000 each. The report showed that a total of 116 telephone and telegraph officials received pay raises in 1938 while three were taking pay cuts.

That was the theory of "lightning war" attributed to the German high command and employed in Poland. It was a picture of "total" war that had been drawn vividly and which, as usual, proved far different in application on a big scale. This difference created a general suspicion that it was a "fake" war.

As a matter of fact, the struggle in Europe is an intelligent and uncompromising application of totalitarian warfare by both sides in its most vicious form and along the lines where it is most effective. There is no whir of wings over Europe; there are no battered armies stumbling futilely through the frozen mud of the Rhineland.

Those things may come; almost certainly they will come in some form when men controlling a mighty military machine get desperate. Under any circumstances, the tempo of war is considered certain to increase next spring.

But so far this has been and fundamentally is likely to be war on the well-substantiated theory that in modern times economic weapons not only decide the outcome of a great military struggle but achieve the far more important goal of totally destroying the enemy as a factor in world economy.

That, rather than the costly military victories of the first three years of the World war, is the goal of both sides in western Europe, and it is a "total war" that sooner or later will reach every family in every belligerent country.

Meeting for the first time in the new year, members of Melvin E. Hearl American Legion post will gather at their Memorial hall at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

It had been considered certain because of the Nazi strength and the superior resources of the Allies, that the outbreak of war would coincide with a locust-like flight of bombing planes across European skies; with vast civilian and military casualties and perhaps even an onslaught by German armies through Belgium in an effort to strike furiously before either Britain or France was ready.

Let's look at some of them: 1. Contrary to general prediction, there has been no all-out bombardment of civilian populations. 2. Economic conflict in its most severe form has overshadowed aggressive armed combat. 3. Instead of lining up immediately with her German ally, Italy, which offers the most feasible route for an allied attack on the Reich, has remained neutral. 4. Germany has chosen to strike hardest at sea, where the Nazi power is least and the British power greatest. 5. Finland, for the moment at least, has given a fighting answer to Europe's greatest military mystery—the power of the red army.

Towering Personalities Dwarfed In Mars March

A paramount result, then, of this first phase of war has been to open the way for fulfillment of Neville Chamberlain's evil-of-war prophecy—that the conflict would result in a world unlike anything we had ever seen before. For, above all, why this is a war of surprises, it is not a phony war.

The surprises are easiest to see.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three tested treatments.
